

Carla Foster – Instructor / Team Leader

Carla Foster came to In-Definite Arts 16 years ago to create physical adaptations for artists with physical disabilities, and quickly became proficient at seeing and providing for all aspects of their creative needs. She has most recently received the Gene R. Neel award for her dedication to IDAS and the community it supports. Her boundless energy and unstinting enthusiasm for the creativity enriches the experience of everyone at IDAS. She is an accredited Duncan Ceramic Instructor / Technician and has taught the Art Adaptation segment of the Therapeutic Recreation course for Mount Royal College in Calgary.

Her artwork covers all media from painting to pottery to glass and music. The most significant fact about her work is that most of her production ends up being donated to raise money for charity and bringing awareness about IDAS, its artists, and other related projects.

Carla is definitely geared toward helping others find the creative artist within them-selves, a true teacher in every sense of the word. Her commitment and dedication as an instructor is un-matched. Being at In-Definite Arts is what her purpose in this life.
